All we can tell you is an administrative investigation has been initiated on connection with an arrest of this individual in Alhambra. At this point we have no information to report about any of the other allegations.

Subject: Arrest of Christian Manuel Mejia (sergeant)

Dear Mr. Rubenstein,

My name is Ruby Gonzales and I am a reporter with the Pasadena Star News, the San Gabriel Valley Tribune and the Whittier Daily News.

I am writing a story today about a man who was arrested by Alhambra Police for allegedly being drunk in public on Sept. 22. The man, 35-year-old Christian Manuel Mejia, told Alhambra police that he is a sergeant with the LAPD.

He was arrested and released the same day.

I am trying to verify if Mr. Mejia is a sergeant with the Hollywood Division, how long he has worked for the department and what is his current employment status since his arrest?

Is he on desk duty? Is he still on patrol? Is he on paid administrative leave? Is there an administrative investigation started?

Is it true that the station held its annual divisional picnic on Friday at the police academy and some officers afterward headed to Alhambra and continued drinking?

The sheriff's booking system shows Mejia was arrested at 1:44 a.m. on Saturday.

I left a message for the station captain this morning as well. A front desk officer working at around 8:30 a.m. took down my message.

I would appreciate a response from the department today.

My cell is [REDACTED].

P.S. I sent the same email to the PIO@lapd.online email.

Sincerely,

Ruby Gonzales

Hi Josh,

Daniel Miller here, I am a reporter at the L.A. Times, and Steve Soboroff suggested I reach out to you. I am working on an expansive story about the life and legacy of Big Willie Robinson. He was a street racer, and a towering L.A. figure, whose story is pretty fascinating. You can read about him here:

<http://articles.latimes.com/2012/may/25/local/la-me-willie-robinson-20120525>

Here's where the LAPD comes in: The story is that in the late 1960s, Willie's group, the Brotherhood of Street Racers, was founded with the help of the LAPD. He claimed this in interviews numerous times. Via this partnership, Willie acted as an emissary of sorts in South L.A., helping the department smooth over relations after the Watts Riots. LAPD officers even helped him stage street races, and helped him eventually open a track on Terminal Island, according to stories I've heard and Robinson's claims. It seems to have been a novel and early example of community-based policing.

I have spoken to historical LAPD figures (like Bernard Parks and Charlie Beck), who said this rings true to them, based on stories they heard and their own recollections. What I don't have, however, is the actual department's perspective on this. Perhaps this relationship between LAPD and Robinson was written down in files that are still existing? Perhaps there are also old-timers within the LAPD who I am unaware of who could speak with first-hand knowledge of how this all went down?

I wanted to reach out to you before I filed a public records request for anything the department has on Robinson and the Brotherhood. I intend to file a request shortly, as I know it takes some time to process them.

I am happy to speak on the phone to get the ball rolling. (I called you this a.m., too.) My cell is 310 422 2075 and my office line is 213 237 2340. I look forward to connecting. This is a really fun story, and I'd love to have the LAPD's help in telling it.

Thanks,

Daniel

Hi Capt:

I have verified the arrest names and other basic information about the seven-eight voter fraud arrests this year and wanted to talk to you about the undercover operation, what you have seen regarding voter fraud on skid row and what exactly was observed in both sets of arrests, which is not clear from the codes cited: Were homeless or non-homeless petition circulators arrested for soliciting forged signatures? Were homeless people arrested for signing petitions with forged signatures? And which suspects were suspected of which activity? In the KNBC story about the first set of arrests in May they mentioned thousands of dollars and lists of registered voters were booked into evidence; how did they relate to the crimes? And what happened to the money?

If you can't get to that level of detail, I understand, but I would be very grateful for any information or overview statement about the operation. Attached is a spread sheet with the names and arrest information.

Best regards,

James,

Here is what I have so far:

1. If LAPD is exploring links between this suspect and the downtown killings? YES
2. If we still believe the suspect's motive to be robbery? Unknown
3. If we still believe the suspect to be homeless? YES
4. If the LAPD is still exploring links between the Pier murder and the downtown attacks. YES

Thanks Trish:

FYI - Cops in Santa Monica confirmed their victim today is homeless and that links between other crimes are being "explored" so I gotta put something up, but will update story immediately if you guys say anything.

Also, sorry, but can we also double check the condition of the surviving victim in the DTLA attacks? (is he still in critical, is he recovering?)

Afternoon folks:

Following up on our little meeting ... I'm writing about this Santa Monica PD announcement of an arrest of an Assault w/ a Deadly Weapon suspect, in an attack sounding similar to both the Santa Monica Pier murder and the downtown attacks being probed by RHD (Victim was struck in the head, suffered serious BFT injuries that left him unconscious, etc.)

Just want to know:

1. If LAPD is exploring links between this suspect and the downtown killings?
2. If we still believe the suspect's motive to be robbery?
3. If we still believe the suspect to be homeless?
4. If the LAPD is still exploring links between the Pier murder and the downtown attacks.

Thanks Trish:

FYI - Cops in Santa Monica confirmed their victim today is homeless and that links between other crimes are being "explored" so I gotta put something up, but will update story immediately if you guys say anything.

Also, sorry, but can we also double check the condition of the surviving victim in the DTLA attacks? (is he still in critical, is he recovering?)

Afternoon folks:

Following up on our little meeting ... I'm writing about this Santa Monica PD announcement of an arrest of an Assault w/ a Deadly Weapon suspect, in an attack sounding similar to both the Santa Monica Pier murder and the downtown attacks being probed by RHD (Victim was struck in the head, suffered serious BFT injuries that left him unconscious, etc.)

Just want to know:

1. If LAPD is exploring links between this suspect and the downtown killings?
2. If we still believe the suspect's motive to be robbery?
3. If we still believe the suspect to be homeless?
4. If the LAPD is still exploring links between the Pier murder and the downtown attacks.

Thanks,
JQ

So this person is a prominent Hollywood writer. We are told last fall his girlfriend reported a serious domestic violence incident in September to LAPD Northeast Division. The DR is 17111700-1932. It happened 9/26 but she reported in November. The address is in India Street looks like 2225 is the number. We have a copy of some of the police report and it indicates he punched her in the face. It is not clear to me what happened and what action was taken?

Info from Captain Hayes:

The two that died are the 59 year old male and one of the 20 year olds.

RHD does not know if the cases in LA and in Santa Monica are related but both agencies are working closely, as their independent investigations continue, to determine if they are related. At this point we have nothing that would clearly link these cases.

Hope this helps,

Hey folks:

Just need to clean something up from your announcement of the deaths via Twitter yesterday. I tried Capt. Hayes with no avail as well.

You guys announced two of the three victims died. I know you're not putting out IDs, but can you be a little more specific, so I can actually follow up with the coroner, and tell me which attacks the victims were from? As you know, RHD put the first attack at 5th & Flower around 4 a.m. involving an adult male black victim, roughly in his 50s, then a second attack at Wilshire/Flower around 4:30 a.m. involving two adult male black victims in their 20s.

Also, you guys want to say anything more about Santa Monica PD exploring links to your case? They kind of blurted that out that they were in touch with RHD in announcing their homicide near the Pier. If you guys have ruled out a connection or can comment on if there's anything concrete linking them, I'd like to update our readers.

Thanks,
JQ

Greetings,

My name is Marcus Yam and I'm a staff photographer with the Los Angeles Times. Cindy Chang, our police department reporter told me to reach out to see if we can arrange a ride-long with the 77th precinct and the South East precinct. Ideally, we'd like to try for Friday and Saturday evenings if it's possible.

We're doing a series about the homicide rates in the mile radius near Dymally, Fremont and Hawkins high schools. It's mostly focused on the students and school perspective but also on how the community is responding to safety and trauma based on past events. Feel free to correct me, but I understand what Dymally might be outside the 77th precinct coverage? I was told it's in the South East area.

We'd like to document the law enforcement side of things, to show the kind of work that's being done whether it's response or prevention. Please don't hesitate to contact me, my cell is 716-400-9363. I've also cc'ed my photo editor, Robert St. John in case you need another point of contact.

Hey folks:

Just need to clean something up from your announcement of the deaths via Twitter yesterday. I tried Capt. Hayes with no avail as well.

You guys announced two of the three victims died. I know you're not putting out IDs, but can you be a little more specific, so I can actually follow up with the coroner, and tell me which attacks the victims were from? As you know, RHD put the first attack at 5th & Flower around 4 a.m. involving an adult male black victim, roughly in his 50s, then a second attack at Wilshire/Flower around 4:30 a.m. involving two adult male black victims in their 20s.

Also, you guys want to say anything more about Santa Monica PD exploring links to your case? They kind of blurted that out that they were in touch with RHD in announcing their homicide near the Pier. If you guys have ruled out a connection or can comment on if there's anything concrete linking them, I'd like to update our readers.

Thanks,

Afternoon folks:

Two quick straight forward questions

1. Circling back on the RHD press conference from Monday, do you have any condition updates on the three homeless victims in the downtown baseball attacks.
2. I'm sure you saw all the negative press Long Beach PD is catching for its use of self-deleting internal texting app TigerTalk. Does LAPD use this app or have it installed on department-issued phones?

Thanks,

I am looking to see if any other large police departments in Southern California use the app or one that is similar. Does LAPD use anything like this? If so, when did it start using it, why, how many officers use it and what are their ranks?

Hi Josh,

A few West Valley residents have been contacting us saying they believe the senior lead officers of Topanga Division were told to stop posting on two community Facebook groups -- Crimebusters of West Hills and Woodland Hills and Crimebusters Homeless Encampments.

An administrator for the groups said she had a meeting with the SLOs, Capt. Maureen Ryan, Deputy Chief Kris Pitcher and yourself recently. She said the officers were told they could no longer post on the pages after several complaints were made to the city.

Is that the case? Can I give you a call about this today?

Thanks,

James,

I am forwarding your email to the office. According to RHD, we can provide you the images and video.

Thank you,
Trish

Hey folks:

Just checking ... are you guys sending out those images and video, or are they just somewhere on the website?

Thanks,

JQ

Hi Cindy. The 24th between 1 and 3 works, or the 26th before 1030. I will wait for Josh and Trish to check their availability.

Thanks for circling back

Hi Bob,

I'm checking in about the media relations meeting we discussed. The week of the 24th would be great for me, if that works on your end.
